Captain R. J. Spencer Churchill
Northwick Park
Brockley, England

Dear Sir:

When I was in the British Museum nearly a year ago, Mr. Robinson, who knew of my work with the hoard of coins of Herod which was found several years ago, mentioned that he thought you had a number of these tetradrachms. I have located well over two hundred of them; but, because of the die combinations, it is very important that I leave no stone unturned to secure casts or wax impressions of any additional specimens.

I should greatly appreciate it if I might have casts of your pieces for embodying in the article I am preparing regarding this hoard. W. Babelon's account, as you know, is based on but a partial knowledge of what the hoard contained. I trust that my request will not inconvenience you.

Very truly yours,

Editor & Secretary
